

HOMES & GARDENS

COLOUR TO THE CORE

A colourful and central kitchen island is beautiful – and clever – for so many reasons

FEATURE LINDA CLAYTON

SIGHT LINES

Stepping into this Tuscan villa, it's the island that acts as a visual waypoint that guides you into the kitchen. 'The island gives the room a warmth and draws the focus to the centre in this back of the house kitchen,' says interior designer Nicola Harding. Painted in Country Blue by Pure & Original, the colour introduces presence without disturbing the calm, traditional space. Set beneath brass pendants and framed by pale cabinetry, it creates a natural pause point.

Bespoke kitchen made by Homewood Bespoke Kitchens & Cabinets and designed by Nicola Harding & Co